In-home care business expands

Vivia Cares, a Hawaii-based in-home care business, has expanded to Olympia, the business announced. The company has been providing in-home senior care services for nearly 20 years.

Their new office, located at 3425 Ensign Road NE, is led by executive director Racheal Lynch, along with Navigator Kristi Griffey and Team Leader Phoenix Ronin, according to a news release.

Their services to help people remain in their homes include:

- Check-in visits a couple of times during the day while family is at work.
- Daily in-person medication reminder visits to stay on schedule.
- Help with showers a few times a week.
